ROOSEVELT CALLS OFF RECEPTION

Methodist Pastor's Statement Cause of Action.

ASSAILED VATICAN BITTERLY

Colonel Roosevelt Declares He Will Be Used In No Way to Disparage Any One and Deplores "Religious Animosities."

Rome, April 6.-Former President Roosevelt's wish that the Vatican incident be regarded as personal to him has not been respected and he is intensely annoyed.

About the first thing he did was to call off the reception to the American

This action, as stated, was due directly to the issuance of a statement by Rev. B. M. Tipple attacking the Roman church.

Mr. Roosevelt does not propose to be used by any one to the disparagement of any one else.

Attack by Mr. Tipple.

Mr. Tipple called upon Mr. Roosevelt and then made a statement in which he gave the Vatican incident a world-wide significance, saying:

"Mr. Roosevelt has struck a blow for twentieth century Christianity. The representatives of two great republics have been the ones to put the Vatican where it belongs. * * *

"The Vatican is incompatible with epublican principles. This is a bitter dose for patriotic Catholics in Amerca to swallow. I wonder how many doses of this sort they will take before they revolt.

"Is Catholicism in America to be ROOSEVELT WON'T every patriotic American should rise to crush it, for Roman Catholicism is the uncompromising foe of freedom. * * The world advances, but the Vatican never."

Statement by Mr. Roosevelt.

When the Tipple pronouncement vas shown to Mr. Roosevelt he said: "I had made no arrangements to speak at an church or clerical organization in Rome. I have received a aiths who have called at my rooms or at the American embassy.

Tipple statement displeased many States. American Catholics, who showed an tion represented by Mr. Tipple were to be present.

The matter was carried to Mr. Roosevelt, who, after hearing both the whole affair, and this was done.

Vatican Incident Still Topic.

The sensation caused by Mr. Roisevelt's decision not to be received by the pope upon terms made by Cardinal Merry del Val continues unabated. The press is filled with columns on the subject.

Papers of all shades of political opinion, except the clerical organs, support Mr. Roosevelt's attitude. Some violent anti-clerical sheets intimate that the affair may result in the downfall of the papal secretary.

to arouse a great anti-clerical demonstration at the railway station when Mr. Roosevelt leaves the city Wednesday night.

The method of feeding depends very much upon local conditions. It pays to feed a light ration of grain during the winter even though the sheep are in good condition. The grain ration, of course, depends upon the kind and condition of roughage to be fed. If feeding liberally of clover or alfalfa hay not as much protein is required as when the hay fed is largely timothy or meadow grass. With mixed hay, clover and mixed grasses feed oats, bran and cracked corn.

To the growing animals give some oilcake meal, always feeding the oilmeal in lump form. Sheep prefer to do their own grinding, especially with this kind of grain, which is of a sticky nature. Make the grain half bran by bulk, balance equal part corn and oats. Silage is also very good for sheep. A good way to feed the grain ration is to scatter it on the silage, although not necessary, as they will very soon eat the silage with a relish.

Sore

Throat realize the danger that lurks behind every case of Wisdom sore throat, she wouldn't rest until she has effected a cure every time a child has it. Your family physician will verify the statement that it is a positive fact that every child with sore throat is in immediate danger of contracting Croup, Quinsy, Tonsilitis or Diphtheria, and is not removed from that danger until the throat is cured. Think of it! Liniments or outward application of medicines do not and cannot cure the ailment, though they may offer temporary relief. Neither can you cure sore throat with a cough syrup or a cold cure. To cure, you must get at the seat of the disease, removing the cause. Nothing does that so quickly, safely and surely as TONSILINE. A single dose of TONSILINE taken upon the first appearance of sore throat may save long weeks of sickness, great expense, worry, even death.

TONSILINE is the stitch in time.

Use a little sore throat wisdom and buy a bottle of TONSILINE today. You may need it tomorrow.

TONSILINE is the standard sore throat remedy—best known and most effective and most used. Look for the long necked fellow on the 25 or 50 cent sized bottle when you go to the drug store to get it. The Tonsiline Co., Canton, Ohio.

HOW TUBERCULIN IS MADE.

There seems to be an idea in the minds of some that the injection of tuberculin into the system of a cow which does not have tuberculosis may in some mysterious way develop the disease in her. This is a wrong idea, as will be understood from a description of the method of preparing the serum given below, taken from a bulletin recently published by Dr. C. H. Stange of the Iowa Agricultural college at Ames:

."A bouillon is prepared with beef or veal infusion containing from 4 to 6 per cent of glycerin. This is placed in flasks and sterilized (heated to a temperature sufficient to kill all living organisms). It is then inoculated with a pure culture of the tubercle bacillus and kept in an incubator at 98 degrees F. In the course of a few weeks the tubercle bacilli will have formed a coarse granular scum on the surface. The contents of the flask are now poured into a porcelain dish and heated until evaporation reduces it to one-tenth of its volume. It is then filtered through a porcelain filter. The liquid passing through the filter is tuberculin. The heat required to concentrate the fluid before filtration is sufficient to kill all bacilli, while the filter removes all the dead bacilli. Tuberculin is therefore the bouillon in which the tubercle bacillus has been grown and contains the toxic material produced by its growth, but the heat to which the preparation is subjected effectively destroys all germ life."

MILLIONAIRE IN BRIBE CHARGE

Pittsburg Banker Bought Passage of Ordinance.

HE WAS NOT SENTENCED

Morris Einstein, the High-Priced Man of Councils, Confesses to Collecting Big Councilmanic Corruption Fund.

Pittsburg, April 6. - Charles W. Friend, director in the Farmers' National Deposit, as well as the Second National bank, son of the lates James W. Friend, of the Pressed Steel Car company, is the first millionaire-he is really a multi-millionaire-to be connected with the present councilmanic bribery cases. Friend was arrested and taken before Judge Frazer, who is handling the great bulk of the bribery cases. Then Friend acknowledged he had paid to Charles Stewart the sum of $500 and pleaded nolo contendre to the bribery charge.

Unaccompanied by an attorney Friend stood before the judge; Charles Stewart, his fellow consiprator, stood beside him and they fought verbally even before the bar of justice. One acknowledged being the briber and the other declared he received the money. Friend declared the amount changing hands was only $500, while Stewart declared $800 was the amount.

This bribery was not directly in connection with the bank deposit ordinances for which so many councilmen have become convicts, but it rubs shoulders with it, however,

Paid For Ordinance.

The Clinton Iron and Steel company, of which the Friends, father and son were the owners, wished to construct a steam pipe carrying bridge across West Carson street to connect the fac tories on either side of the street. A special councils committee was appointed, which "inspected" the site and decided the price worth to the members of this committee. Stewart named the other four members of the committee, declaring he had divided the money with them.

Judge Frazer asked Stewart if the other members of councils did not think it queer they were not paid fo. their votes on this steam bridge ordi

"Oh, no." answered Stewart: "they thought that was part of the agreement with the bank ordinance. You see, it's like when you purchase a large bill of goods and the grocer throws in a chair as a present. The other members thought the bridge ordinance was the 'chair.' They didn' know I had received any money."

After getting this much of the story from the defendants they were allowed to "go until needed again."

Some time ago the Farmers' National Deposit bank, through its direc tors, issued a statement to the effect that neither they nor the officers were aware of any money paid for council manic bribery. The name of Charles W. Friend, who pleaded nolo contendre, did not appear appended to that report. It was explained he was out of the city.

Einstein Makes Confession.

Morris Einstein, the high priced man of councils, who two days ago inserted a notice in the newspapers asking his friends to hold in abeyance their judgment on the charges brought against him, as he was innocent, walked into court and told how he had gone south with $1000 of the $20,000 he had collected from the Workingmen's Savings and Trust company, as its share of the councilmanic corruption fund.

Einstein wept as he told the story, and his tears came in a veritable flood when Judge Frazer ordered him to resign from councils. He resigned, after which he went before the grand jury and implicated more of the men "higher up.

The grand jury probably will make a presentment today in which will be recommended the indictment of at least one bank president and one of the leading members of the Allegheny county bar may be indicted. This lawyer has been informed that his name will be mentioned and he is prepared to furnish bail immediately.

Ten Doctors Said He Would Die

"In 1903 we wrote you regarding my husband, who was suffering from heart trouble. He was superanuated by the North Georgian Conference. Ten doctors at different times said he would die. You advised Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy and Restorative Nervine; we did as advised, and improvement was apparent from the very first. He recovered and the Conference in 1904 gave him a charge. He never feit better, although he has very heavy work and does a great deal of camp meeting work. HETTY GALLN ILL

New Orleans, April 6 .- Mrs. Hetty Green, "richest woman in the world," is reported to be critically ill in this city. The nature of Mrs. Green's malady is not disclosed, but from a well informed source it was learned that her condition is so serious that she may not recover.

Edward H. R. Green, her only son, reached New York last week, coming from Texas. At that time it was said the purpose of his visit was to conclude a railroad deal. This Mr. Green denied. It is now believed that his visit is due to the precarious health of his mother, and that he was notified by her physician that it might be well for him to be near her for fear of a sudden collapse.

At a sale of Polled Angus cattle of which we read an account the other day, where the animals disposed of were brought across the state line without proper inspection, about & dozen of the animals were seized by the veterinary authorities of the state in which the sale was held and subjected to the tubercular test. Of this number ten animals were found more or less affected with tuberculosis, some so seriously that no portions of their carcasses were fit for food. This case is cited for the purpose of indicating the risk that the purchaser of full blooded stock runs and the wisdom there is in his insisting on a health certificate from a reliable veterinary authority before he pays the long price usually asked for such animals.

AN EASY WINNER.

ALL OVER THE WORLD His Rival Was Prompt In Handing Him the Medal.

Assemblyman John C. Hackett of New York recently told this story in a speech: "I was in Rockland county at a country hotel. All the farmers were there and all the village characters. Buying an Ancestor.

The famous quarterly reviewer, Mr. Abraham Hayward of London, once thought that he should like to have some ancestors. So he walked to Wardour street, where one can generally pick up an ancestor or two of the Cromwellian, Queen Anne or early Georgian period. Selecting a portrait of a cavaller in half armor, with features not quite unlike his own, Mr. Hayward made a bid for it, but, deeming the price asked too high, he went his way working people. What is For Breakfast?

Many housekeepers consider the bugaboo of their daily work is arranging the menus for the ever recurring breakfast, dinner and supper. They hail with delight any suggestions for new dishes that will furnish variety in any bill of fare. Breakfast is generally a light meal in most homes, but its simple menu should present some variety, and every dish included in it should be prepared with special care. In my opinion, meat dishes should appear but seldom on the breakfast table, a little thinly sliced bacon or a Last call for Spray Material piece of delicately browned fish being the exception. There is generally quite enough starch, too, in the breakquite enough starch, too, in the breakfast menu without serving potatoes. For your consideration let me suggest one or two breakfast menus that will be not only appetizing, but furnish the required amount of nutriment as well:

lowing story: "I once had such a case, and it showed me how difficult it is to arrive at the truth when certain persons are interested in hiding an important part of the truth. This withholding of facts makes us see very plainly as true what is really false. A criminal case in law is like a picture puzzle—all the Some Specially Interesting News in law is like a picture puzzle-all the parts must be present and fit in their places to show the design. "Mrs. Hockaday was the wife of old

Hockaday, who made a big fortune on the Stock Exchange. She was twenty and he sixty when he married her. Nevertheless they seemed to get on very well together, and the young wife appeared to be very fond of her old husband. But one day Mr. Hockaday died very suddenly of a disease his doctor could not make out. No suspicions were cast upon his wife at the time. But Mrs. Hockaday did not wait very long after her husband's demise to appear at places of amuse ment, and her participation at balls and other such functions soon followed

"Had she been more circumspect in this regard probably the celebrated case of which she was the central figure would have never occurred. The police in order to satisfy a public clamor get up something they call a case, and there is a preliminary examination. So they did in the Hockaday affair. But nothing was proved, and the lady was not held for trial.

"This is the beginning, where a few scattered parts of the picture puzzle are furnished, but the picture is not even conceived of.

"Unfortunately this disposition of the case did not satisfy the talkers, who still insisted that Mrs. Hockaday had poisoned her husband. She made a statement to a reporter that she would not rest until she had proved herself innocent. Then she stirred up the matter reflecting on Peter Hockaday, a nephew of her husband, who would have inherited his property had the uncle not married. This fired the nephew, who came out with a statement that he believed the millionaire had been poisoned and demanded that the body be disinterred and tested by "This was done, and a heavy dose of poisonous substance was found in the dead man's stomach.

"It was now plain to those who were amusing themselves solving the puzzle of the Hockaway case that it would turn out to be a representation of a young widow with one hand poisoning an old man and with the other grasping money bags.

"Mrs. Hockaday was arrested and placed on trial. I was her counsel. The prosecution brought out an important fact that tended to prove her guilt. It was proved that she had paid from time to time considerable sums to an attorney of bad repute for services connected with her husband's property. On the day of his death the millionaire went to this attorney's office, drank a glass of wine, went home and died in a few hours. "The picture puzzle changed. There was now a rich old man, a shyster lawyer pouring out a dose with one hand and receiving a bag of gold from

"The shyster attorney testified that he received fees from Mrs. Hockaday for legitimate services connected with her prospective interest in her husband's estate, her object being to secure all the property herself and prevent any of it going to any one of her husband's relatives. The prosecutor endeavored by cross examination to make him reveal more exactly the nature of these services, but failed.

"Seeing that it behooved me to exonerate this attorney, who had been receiving money from my client and was accused of poisoning her husband in return for his fees. I urged him to go back to the day Mr. Hockaday was supposed to have been poisoned and discover his whereabouts at the hour the millionaire visited his office. The result was the proving of an alibi. When Mr. Hockaday called on the attorney the latter was in the office of a man from whom he was endeavoring to extort some money under a sort of blackmail.

"By this time the puzzle framers were ready to give up all but a young wife making way somehow or other at FAIRFIELD, Pa in the State of PENNA. with a rich old husband and a set of at the close of business, March 29, 1910.
